

Had Enough of the Campus Crisis?

Support YAF:

The Student Action Voice of the Silent Majority

YOUNG AMERICANS FOR FREEDOM was founded in 1960 at Sharon, Conn., as a non-partisan, non-profit organization. In 10 years, YAF has grown to become the nation's largest action youth organization dedicated to the principles of freedom and liberty, balanced by limited government and individual responsibility, for all mankind. YAF is a bipartisan voluntary organization with 513 chapters, 59,000 national and local members, and representatives on more than 800 college campuses. It has an advisory board of over 65 Members of Congress.

YAF's Record: Highlights 1960-1970

1960 A small group (84 to be exact) of dedicated young conservatives met at Sharon, Connecticut, to give birth to Young Americans for Freedom. Their beliefs were embodied in the "Sharon Statement" — a vital and viable Free World document.

1961 YAF's monthly magazine, The New Guard, burst upon the conservative scene with mind-awakening editorials. Politically, YAF dumbfounded Left-wingers by demonstrating that the majority of students supported the House Un-American Activities Committee.

1962 Responding to the need to take positive political action, state and local YAF organizations devoted themselves to electing conservative candidates in this critical mid-term election year and helped to lay the groundwork for the growing conservative movement in America.

1963 YAF took up arms against the radical National Student Association, urging colleges to sever their ties with this hypocritical organization.

1964 YAF concentrated on winning support for the alternative policies of Senator Goldwater in one of the most important Presidential races of our times.

1965 When the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company announced plans to build a multi-million dollar plant in Communist-controlled Eastern Europe, YAF immediately launched nationwide protests and letter-writing campaigns to stop this free foreign aid to an avowed enemy. Pressure by YAF was cited as the main reason for Firestone's cancellation of the deal.

1966 YAF took dramatic steps to support our fighting men in Southeast Asia, including mail campaigns and blood donations as well as charity drives for war refugees.

1967 Now 30,000 strong, YAF sensed that Americans, especially students, did not have a firm understanding of American values. To educate students, YAF distributed thousands of educational books and pamphlets, as well as a special high school film strip series entitled "Two Worlds" to alert our future leaders to the danger of Communism.

1968 To stop strategic material trade between America and the Communist World, YAF launched a nationwide protest against IBM's sale of military-oriented computer equipment to the Communist Bloc. This was augmented by a special "Communism on Trial" Film Forum shown across the nation.

1969 With the Student Crisis becoming a dangerous threat to the American way of life, YAF held counter-moratoriums and counter-demonstrations on every important campus in the country. In the struggle against New Left violence and terrorism, YAF instituted a Legal Action Campaign to thwart dissidents and keep colleges open.

1970 In 10 action-filled years, YAF has grown to be the largest responsible student organization in America with 59,000 supporters on more than 800 high school and college campuses. Major activities focused a nationwide "Tell It to Hanoi" campaign and petition drives backing American policy in Southeast Asia.

FUTURE YAF's continuing Freedom Offensive is sustained by the generous contributions of thousands of concerned Americans. Your help is needed today to continue YAF's important work.
